

Untitled

iampink@foxmail.com

WS786873

On Thu, 23 Apr 2020 12:49:32 +0800, you wrote:

>Found the PCB file of 20.4.3, can I use it directly to the manufacturer for production?

I need to update the Gerber files and toner transfer files so give me a week. I will indicate the latest date on the update.

I will update the parts list tomorrow for you to use as reference.

With the update you will "not need" to do all of the modifications I have listed on the webpage.

There is so much information it looks disorganized right now, I do work on something daily and most of the day.

The voice is there, a natural theremin sound to die for, just waiting on a sound card to arrive so I can make a sound sample.

Were you able to get into facebook, I am new at it, not sure how it works for inviting outsiders.

This project has creep-ed along for twenty years as it is always teaching and evolving. My sound can be even better. What most engineers have missed it begins at the pitch antenna and there is a specific wave shape that it comes from, almost as if she is alive.

You should delete your TW email post.

Christopher